Here’s what Dr. Patel, Small Business Owner of Dunkin Doughnut had to say: As a new business owner that has put it all the line “so I thought” my company was still struggling and I was looking for something or someone to assist me. As I was sharing my situation with my neighbor, she told me about Dream Builders Communication. Even though I take risk in my business, I am a skeptic by nature, but after sitting down with one of the senior staff members, I was not only convinced, but compelled to take one more investment and that investment was in me. From sessions 1 though session 10, the staff not only coached me, but provided tools that were immediately applicable. If you are struggling professionally or even personally, look no further, Dream Builders Communication is the key to providing longevity to your business.
